

JENNIFER YAN

"Marketing Strategically to Ignite Business Growth"

Jennifer Yan is the founder and online marketer at SEO Symbiosis, LLC.

Fueled by her experience in technology and work in marketing research for organizations such as Youtube, Facebook, LinkedIn, and Google, she developed a foundation in consumer psychology and how to market products and services in a manner that resonates with a specific audience.

She helps business owners struggling with lead generation to use media and influencers to rank higher in search engines to reach billions of potential leads worldwide. According to Forbes, 90% of the buyer's journey starts online and making sure your business has high search engine rankings, is more important than ever.

Not only does she help drive traffic to websites to bring awareness to her client's businesses but she also focuses on communicating value -- Now that they have gotten the attention, how do you convince your services/products are important to your clients? She uses creative problem solving and strategic marketing to curate relationships with influential decision makers to ignite the growth of her client's businesses. Making dramatic changes in businesses in months, not years!
